TFS Trial Form Support has Q4 been awarded 4 new large international studies – all to be conducted throughout Europe.

TFS has during Q4 been trusted to conduct four large international clinical trials throughout Europe. The reasons for selecting TFS as the preferred European CRO has been three main and important factors; access to the defined study subjects, fulfilling the required timelines in the studies and delivering data with high quality. "It might seem as quite understandable and logical factors when selecting a CRO, but the big difference is that it also takes a lot of effort and engagement to make it in the day-to-day work - a commitment TFS has able to deliver on" says the Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Daniel Spasic.

The sponsors are two French pharmaceutical companies, one Israeli- and one Japanese pharmaceutical company. The studies will be conducted throughout Europe with dedicated study teams from TFS and the therapeutic areas are pain, vaccines, gastrointestinal and urology. All studies are expecting to start their activities late this quarter.

"Since TFS has a broad therapeutic experience among its personnel and a very strategic and favorable coverage in Europe we are more often considered as the first choice of selection, especially when it comes to important pivotal studies", says Mr. Daniel Spasic.
